THE ELLISIAN FIELDS

1954

THE ELLIS SCHOOL
PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA

“One Step At A Time But Always Forward”

DEDICATION

In appreciation of your interest in us throughout the years, we, the Class of 1954, dedicate this book to you . . .

VIRGINIA PARKER STEVENSON

THE FOREWORD

Today when last the school bell rings,
We put away scholastic things,
And taste the future, bitter sweet,
And see the world beneath our feet;
And say with youthful certain way,
"At last we graduate today."

But ah! To graduate today!
When our impatience does betray
Our eagerness to break the bonds
That chain us to our parents' arms,
To make our block in life our own,
Upward step, or stumbling stone.
Oh, effervescent Youth, rejoice,
For ours was not a birth by choice;
And yet we live within an age
That holds a universe encaged,
 That gives, or takes,
 That makes, or breaks,
That shapes the untried clay of land
To form a coward or a man.
The world and life care not for birth,
But weigh a man for what he's worth.

To graduate in such a day!
When the very heavens seem to sway,
And hold atomic prophecy
In the turning of a century.
When the relentless march of time
Catches hearts and souls in rhyme,
And drives them on with wings and wheels
To hear a glorious freedom peal
And ring a universal good
Above a united brotherhood.
 Oh Youth, we live,
 Perchance to give,
In such a day as this, a self-created plan
To bolster up Humanity in man.
Oh Youth, be very proud to say,
"We graduate in such a day."

The Class Prophecy

Step by step, and year by year,
We've seen our friends assembled here
Prepare to take their cap and gown
And face the future with renown.
Now comes the day that we must part,
Yet deep within each aching heart
There lies serene a loyalty
That binds us with its memories.
Yet memories are not enough,
For friendship's made of sterner stuff;
And we would not forget the past
And pause a moment to forecast
The things the future holds in store
For the Class of Nineteen Fifty-four!

So now with crystal ball in hand,
We search a future wonderland,
Where Judie Allen (married first)
In children's care is richly versed.

And where Jean Armentrout will hail
A waist still tiny as a nail's.

Annelly Bayles by some misrule
Now heads a private driving school.

While Betsey Beeson, born with gills,
Swims in aqua-watermills.

And Jettie Bergman's clothes of fame
Make Paris fashions blush with shame.

Now meet the world's best alchemist,
Betsey Boshell, mad scientist.

And hear that glorious music sound
From the concert grand of Suzanne Brown.

While Eleanor Clark's world celebrated
As a talking horse reincarnated.

There's Judy Cohen who cavorts
Upon the bench of the Supreme Court.

While poor Pavlova's no longer "prima"
Now that Marjorie Frame's a ballerina.

Ruth Frame's an author with aspiration
Who hopes to find some inspiration.

And Nancy Johnston's really very Happy as Milton's new secretary.

Tourists now hide their winter's pallor
By basking at Louise Kelley's ranch of glamor.

Svengali has fallen as a mesmerist
Now that Diane King's a hypnotist.

Today pedestrians strengthen their defense
Since Patti Lloyd's got her driver's license.

And poor old Hungerford went down the drain,
When Sallie McKee a cartoonist became.

While Susan McKee to carry on tradition,
Married, and now has pairs of additions.

A new star rises above the Met,
As Bee Dee Mullen sings her opening duet.

While the Vick's sponsors somehow or another
Acquired Pat Nash as a third Smith brother.

Ann Reynolds' book on Etiquette boasts
A larger sale than Emily Post.

And Joann Sheddan's performed for czars
As the World's Olympic Skating Star.

And last, but not least, (we know she won't mind),
Lindy Winston's cheated Fate we find.

Tired of being at the end one day,
She married a man whose name begins with "Aa!"

These things the future holds in store
For the Class of Nineteen Fifty-four.
And now that we've forgot the past
And paused a moment to forecast,
Our friendships stronger now will be,
Bound by more than memories,
Bound by more than loyalty,
Bound by the happy jeu-d'esprit
That each of us within our hearts
Feels although today we part.
Happy we are that we have known
Friends like those our school has shown,
Friends whose futures were predicted here,
Step by step and year by year.

"Cinderella, Cinderella, all I hear is Cinderella." This song echoed in the ears of the Junior Class as they prepared for the annual winter prom. The school was soon transformed into a fairyland of gilded carriages, and magic slippers. Ferns, candles, roses, and bannisters became covered with a feathery blue mist making the school a wonderland of wishes and dreams. The evening was climaxed by the announcement of the winner of the tiny, slender silver slipper. Jettie Bergman, the winner, then led the couples in a lilting waltz. This junior class worked very hard and deserves much credit for giving the girls an enchanted evening.

The Juniors' work did not stop with the prom. They continued to create the same enchantment in a "Small World," the theme of the annual spring Guild fair in which the Juniors contribute a great amount of time and energy.

"HE is coming." Signs carrying these three words mysteriously appeared on every available bulletin board early in the fall. Every girl who saw the signs questioned, "Who is HE?" but could find no one to answer her question, as no one else seemed to know. After much speculation, the Sophomores revealed their secret. HE was Sir Ethelbert, a name taken from their Ancient History course. Sir Ethelbert turned out to be a perfectly adorable green and white felt dog with "Ellis" written on his ear. This Sophomore project, the sale of Sir Ethelbert, received great response from the girls; and soon the halls were swarming with girls with Sir Ethelbert tucked neatly in the crook of their arms.

The Sophomore class also entertained the upper school at a most delightful picnic in the early fall to acquaint the new girls with the old girls. Aside from this, the tenth grade has been extremely busy trying to find suitable commencement gifts for their sister class, the Seniors.

Back row—A. Rodgers, G. Friebertshauser, M. Irwin, D. Mercer, K. McCreery, L. Strem, S. Berger, V. Voigt, L. Baton.

"You take the high road and I'll take the low road" but which ever road you choose, you will meet the fun loving Freshman. During lunch recess, it is impossible to walk through the basement without being "hopped" on by a ninth grader. To be more explicit, the latest rage of this class is to "bunny hop." At recess, in the halls, up and down the stairs, or in any available nook, you will find extensive practicing of this new dance step. Aside from this invigorating pastime, the Freshman will be found acting out a newly acquired Dramatic Club role, trying to carry a tune in order to learn their new Glee Club songs, or sitting in a corner testing highly unanswerable questions for Chi Eta Phi.

This class has no definite project for the year except to be as helpful and as active in school affairs as possible. Whichever road they take, hopping along, the Freshmen will do a fine job of making their journey into the future a fruitful and exciting one.

As the girls in the upper school "go over hill, over dale, and hit the dusty trail," they are joined by thirty-nine sure and swift-footed eighth graders. These recruits applied for enlistment, were accepted, and joined the Ellis ranks. The old guard Ellis soldiers are in a constant state of amazement and amusement as they witness the antics of this younger generation.

The old soldiers look with a green eye on the home making ability of this class which acquired its training at Liberty School. "Oh to bake, to sew, to clean—'t's a consummation devoutly to be wished'" sigh the older guards. The eighth grade has also marched into many of the school activities, adding zest to each organization.

"For where e'er you go, you will always know" that the eighth grade is marching with lively steps into the realms of knowledge, and adventures. Step by step, they will reach the top of the Ellis ladder to find they have made a successful march.

Student Council

President	Jean Armentrout
Vice-President	Ann Reynolds
Secretary	Annelley Bayles

The Ellis Student Council is the school organization formed to discuss and take action on certain problems arising in the five upper classes. The Council, under the supervision of Mrs. Amundson and Miss Fairlamb, has regular weekly meetings to discuss its activities which include the regulation of Honor Study Hall and the control of the newly initiated Comment System. The other duties of the Council include proctoring the library and study hall, and conducting an occasional assembly.

Aside from these various projects, the Council endeavors to promote an understanding between the students and the faculty. Its initial purpose is to give an increased spirit of interest and unity to the girls in their school life.

The Ellis Guild

President	Maxine Cohen
Secretary	Susan Sayers
Treasurer	Nellie Lou Jaffe

The Ellis Guild is an organization whose initial purpose is to raise money for and distribute money among various worthwhile charities all over the world. This aim is accomplished at the annual Spring Fair in which the entire school participates. Each class has a booth which is decorated in accordance with the motif of the Fair. The money raised at this event is held until the following September at which time it is divided and sent to the charities chosen by the girls in the school.

This year, under the supervision of Miss Band, the Guild initiated a new project. It has made itself financially responsible for a European war orphan. Each class writes the girl a letter about the school and in return the orphan writes the girls about her school and her life. The Guild hopes that in doing this, the girls will develop a greater interest in the young people of Europe.

The Ivy

Editor Ruth Frame

Business Manager Judith Beall

The Ivy is the school's literary magazine which is published annually. This year promises to bring many new and original additions which are being kept secret and are causing much interest and speculation.

The Ivy, published under the supervision of Miss Fairlamb, includes poems, short stories, and senior essays submitted for decision to the Ivy Board. Each girl, from the first to the twelfth grade, contributes to the magazine. This year, the board organized a short story contest which increased interest and enthusiasm throughout the whole school.

The Patchwork

EditorLindy Winston

Business ManagerSusan McKee

The Patchwork is the school newspaper which is published six times during the school year. Originated four years ago, the Patchwork has made the students more aware of and interested in the news of the school. In each issue, the newspaper staff attempts to improve its journalistic standards and produce a paper representative of the school.

This year, the staff consists of thirty-six members of the upper school, and has added two reporters from the middle school so that the newspaper can give as full a coverage as possible of school life. The newspaper is divided into eight staffs, each with its own editor or manager.

A new idea, which proved very successful, was the publication of the newspaper the first day of school. This issue contained information about the activities and organizations of the school, and proved helpful to the new girls and old girls alike.

Chi Eta Phi

President Judith Cohen

Secretary Judith Allen

Chi Eta Phi is the school's non-denominational religious organization. Anyone in the upper school who is interested in religion may become a member. This year, Chi Eta Phi had an overwhelming response from the student body. Chi, Eta, and Phi are the Greek letters which stand for Catholic, Hebrew, and Protestant.

The purpose of Chi Eta Phi is to promote a better understanding of the different religious beliefs and traditions. In order to attain its aim, Chi Eta Phi holds discussion meetings monthly at which time religious problems and ideas are discussed. This year, the organization has had many fine speakers who have given the basic principles and customs of their faiths and compared them to the other faiths. In this way, each girl may see how her religion parallels that of her schoolmates' religion.

The Dramatic Club

President	Toni Horning
Vice-President	Maxine Cohen
Treasurer	Sally Flannery
Librarian	Linda Fleger
General Manager	Nellie Lou Jaffe

We're not like famous Shakespeare
 Nor Hamlet with his Ghost
 We're just the Ellis Merry Masques
 Doing the plays we love the most.

The Merry Masques is the newly adopted name of the Ellis School Dramatic Club. This club has aroused much interest among the students and afforded much enjoyment for the girls and their families. Anyone in the upper school may become a member.

The big problem of this year's club was the production of Oscar Wilde's British Comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest!" Under the direction of Miss Pearl, the girls learned not only how to act, but also how to speak correctly and distinctly. The Dramatic Club provided the Christmas party with an amusing play, "Christmas in the Marketplace," acted and produced by the eighth grade members of the club.

The Glee Club

President	Barbara Mullen
Business Manager	Nancy Johnston
Librarian	Sallie McKee

The Ellis Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. James Evans, consists of girls from the ninth through the twelfth grades. The club had an especially interesting year. Aside from singing for benefits and at many homes for disabled people, the Glee Club participated in the annual "United We Sing" at Carnegie Music Hall. The girls gave joint concerts with Kiski, Mercersburg, and the annual one with Shady Side in the early spring.

The Glee Club has an added attraction in the ensemble which is made up of nine girls from the Glee Club. This group sings at many benefits, and always gives a special number with the Glee Club at such times as Parents' Night, and the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. The Glee Club also plays a most important part at the June Commencement.

ATHLETICS

E. A. A.

President	Jettie Bergman
Secretary	Nancy Johnston
Treasurer	Jean Davis

The E. A. A. is the Ellis Athletic Association. Every girl from the fourth grade through twelfth grade belongs to the E. A. A. The Board is made up of representatives from each class and of the Green and White team captains. The E. A. A. functions under the supervision of Miss Benson.

The purpose of the E. A. A. is to encourage good sportsmanship among the girls. This aim is achieved by having interclass games in hockey, soccer, basketball, and baseball. The much anticipated event of the year, organized by the E. A. A., is the student-faculty baseball game, which brings the girls and teachers together for a fun-filled afternoon.

The E. A. A. holds two parties yearly, the first of which is a Halloween Party, given for the middle school. The other party is a surprise picnic for the upper school which is always greatly enjoyed.

Hockey Varsity

Class Song

Tonight as we stand here prepared to depart
We cherish fond mem'ries with sadness of heart.
We bid fond farewell to each friend that we made
And teachers who helped us as we worked and we played.
Graduating's a pleasure but leaving's a grief;
We regret that our stay here has been much too brief.
From Ellis School Harbor, we're sailing tonight.
Pull up the anchor our Goal is in sight.

Cheerleaders

Green Team

GREEN TEAM CHEER

Jitterbug—Jitterbug—all around!
 Here comes the GREEN team
 A-struttin' through town!
 With a flat-foot flugie
 And a floe-floe
 We've got a team that's—O, boy!
 Put 'em all together,
 And this is what you've got—
 A darn good team that's —RED HOT!

GREEN TEAM SONG

There is one team that we'll fight for,
 We will uphold its name.
 There is one girl whom we'll follow,
 She will lead us on to fame

Rah, Rah, Rah!

Green Team, we're always with you,
 Working as a whole.

For we'll fight with spirits high
 V-I-C-T-O-R-Y

Team mates so loyal and true
 Fighting all the way,
 We will pledge our hearts to try:
 V-I-C-T-O-R-Y

White Team

WHITE TEAM CHEER

The team was in a huddle, the captain
lowered her head,
They all gathered round, and this is what she said:

Ya got to go, go, go team go,
Ya got to fight, fight, fight team
fight,
Ya got to win, win, win team win,
Ya got to go, ya got to fight, ya got to win team win.
Yea Whites!

WHITE TEAM SONG

Parts are assembled for the White Team,
To fit together with their very best scheme,
Room for each section, ready to start,
Watch it build up as we add to each part.
We'll place sportsmanship and spirit,
Add co-operation and the others in relation,
And as these pieces join with the rest,
White Team will prove that their puzzle is best.
